LONG HELD IN HONOR

SEAMAN'S MAGAZINE OF ANCIENT HISTORY.

Claims to Be the Oldest Religious Publication of Its Kind in America—Famous for Introduction of Hymn That Lives.

Oldest of all religious magazines in America is the Seamen's Magazine, published by the American Seamen's Friend Society, New York. Started in 1828, it has appeared without interruption ever since. Its monthly issue has been printed by the same family from father to son for twenty-five or twenty-eight years. For 60 years its cover was unaltered.

In this magazine appeared for the first time the world-famous hymn, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me." It was written by E. Hopper, then pastor of the Little Old Church of the Sea and Land, its edifice still standing, but almost unknown to this generation of New Yorkers. Colonel Roosevelt's first speech, made when he was a boy, is also recorded here. Romances are traceable through its pages—true stories of adventure, heroism and tragedy that make up the life of the sea.

One such story is behind the brief account of the loan libraries sent to sea by the dowager duchess of Aberdeen after her visit to America. The present earl of Aberdeen, lord lieutenant of Ireland, had a brother. This brother was the real heir to the title, but long years ago he came to this country from England, and shipped from here as a common sailor under the name of Gordon. He rose to the position of mate, but shortly after that was drowned at sea. His mother came here and gave in his memory the libraries that today are multiplied and sent over the ocean to as great a number as the funds of the society permit.

The magazine incarnates also a history of the change in the usage of English. It is a most valuable account of the moral tone of the past. One of the chaplains of the United States navy says in an article which the old issues hold, that he wishes "they would flog the men forward, instead of aft" for the reason that it disturbed his evening meditations.

Probably the first account of the free churches in Sweden was published in the magazine. These churches are now grown to be rivals of the State church there.

It was started, this brave little herald of the sailors' life, with 250 subscribers, all in New York city. At the end of the first year, 1829, it had gathered, in Boston, Philadelphia and Charleston, S. C., 1,200. Its oldest subscriber today is Asher Sheldon of New Haven, Conn., who has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday. He has been on the lists of the Seamen's society for 40 years.

As to Amazons.

Not a few fancy horseback riding for women is comparatively new. To be sure our great-grandmothers rode on pillion, but they were of a day when it was the fashion to be delicate. Later the sex took up riding, and now of course, but now many ride across just as did the Amazons of old. Though having the Amazon river for namesake, these doughty dames are supposed to have come from the country about the Caucasus, their chief seats being along a river which empties into the Black sea. They invaded at various times Thrace, Asia Minor, Arabia, Egypt and Libya.

The ninth labor of Hercules was to take from them the girdle of the queen of the Amazons. It was a very unpleasant affair, as you no doubt remember. Instead of showing fight, Hippolyta was sensible to his manly charms and gave him her girdle without a struggle and even went boating with him.

Juno took alarm, warned the Amazons that their queen was being carried off, and they descended upon the ship. Thinking Hippolyta had been treacherous, Hercules slew her and sailed away with the girdle.

So much for the Amazons.

Miss Katharine—Figuratively speaking, she is pretty.

Mr. Kidder—Ahl! I see. She has a prepossessing bank account.

RICHARD P. ERNST, CANDIDATE FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Successful Lawyer and Business Man Seeks the Republican Nomination—Graduate of "Old Centre" College—Prominent in Religious and Educational Work in Covington and His Native State

Richard P. Ernst, Candidate for Republican Nomination U. S. Senator.

Covington, Ky.—(Special).—Richard P. Ernst, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, is a native Kentuckian, having been born in Covington in 1858, where he has lived all of his life, and where his parents lived.

He received his primary education in the schools at Covington and afterward graduated from "Old Centre" College, at Danville, with the Class of '78, winning the valedictory honors of his class. Later he graduated from the Law School of the University of Cincinnati, in a class of which William H. Taft was a member. Shortly after completing his studies he married Miss Susan Brent, granddaughter of Chas. Brent, who was for many years a prominent citizen of Paris, Ky. They have two children, one son and one daughter, now grown.

Mr. Ernst, because of his splendid business ability and attractive personality, early in life became prominently identified with the business interests of Northern Kentucky, and through his Covington and Cincinnati law offices has attained great success in his profession.

Life-Long Republican.
Politically Mr. Ernst has been a life-long Republican. For many years he has devoted both his time and his means to a very liberal degree for the success of his party. He was for many years a member of the State Central Committee, was its chairman when the party achieved its most notable triumphs in the state, has been delegate to several national conventions, and in many other ways has served his party, often at great personal sacrifice. He has been able to maintain terms of friendship with all elements and factions in his party, and if nominated will receive the support of Republicans and Independents without regard to any former personal prejudices or factional differences.

Interested in Church and School.
Mr. Ernst is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Covington, and an elder in that congregation. For many years he has been President of the Covington Young Men's Christian Association, which is one of the most successful and widely popular institutions of its kind in the country, as it appeals to boys of all denominations. Mr. Ernst retains a wide interest in educational affairs. He is not only a member of the Board of Trustees of his alma mater, "Old Centre," but is also a trustee of the Western College for Women, at Oxford, O., and is a trustee of Lane Seminary, at Cincinnati, one of the oldest schools of theology in the United States. In this connection he has been very liberal in offering prizes to stimulate the student, and is usually responsible for the schooling of at least one young man every year. He also takes an active personal interest in all local charitable institutions.

Strong With Workingmen.

Mr. Ernst has always had many warm friends among the working boys of Covington, and enjoys great popularity with them. He has always aided them in their troubles, and has been a very influential factor in his work of making their relations with their employers pleasant and profitable.

A Business Campaign.

Mr. Ernst's candidacy will appeal strongly to the business men of Kentucky. Successful himself and identified with men who have succeeded in commercial and professional life, he offers his services to the state at a time when there is a widespread demand for high-class business men to take a part in politics, and to offer to the state and to the country that degree of business skill and experience which is so necessary to success in private life.

There is a growing conviction that business interests have not been fairly and intelligently represented in the councils of government—that gentlemen, well disposed, no doubt, but without practical knowledge of commercial affairs, and who themselves have not won their spurs in business and professional careers, have attempted to legislate along theoretical rather than practical lines, and that as a result of these experiments all departments of business and the public generally have suffered.

Mr. Ernst, if nominated and elected, will take to his Senatorial office not only a mind trained by education and experience, but that wide, practical viewpoint which will enable him to act at all times to the best interest of the farmer, the manufacturer and the consumer.

Conservative Politically.

It may be stated in this connection that Mr. Ernst, in his political management, has always treated his Democratic opponents with such a spirit of fairness and courteous consideration that he has the confidence and respect of members of that party to a most unusual degree. (ad)

The Limit.

Mary Jane's master is a slightly eccentric bachelor. He has one most irritating habit. Instead of telling her what he wants done by word of mouth he leaves on his desk or on the kitchen table or anywhere else where she is likely to see it a note curtly directing her to "Dust the dining room" or "Turn out my cupboard," and so on.

The other day he bought some newspaper, with the usual die sunk address imprinted upon it, from the stationer and ordered it to be sent home. Mary Jane took it in, and the first thing that caught her eye was a note attached to the package. She read it open-eyed.

"Well," she said, "he's asked me to do a few things in his blessed notes, but this is the limit. I won't stand it no longer!"

For the note read, "Die inside this package."—London Answers.

Easy to Identify.

"I was going down the street the other day," the fellow said, "and I met a little boy crying. He was a miserable object and seemed to be suffering keenly. So I stopped and spoke to him."

"What's the matter, son?" says I. "A b-b-big boy hit me," he sobbed.

"Well, that's a shame. You tell me who the big boy was and I'll give him a talking to that he won't forget."

"It was th' 'Simpkins boy," answered the abused youngster, with a show of interest. "He's down there with all those other kids."

"Which one of that crowd is he?" "You kin tell easy enough. He's th' one with th' black eye an' th' bloody nose, an' he's cryin' too!"—Chicago News.

What one has that one ought to use, and whatever we take in hand we ought to do with all our might.—Cicero.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

ALCOHOL AND HEALTH.

The records of the hospitals in our own and other countries testify to the lowered vitality of patients through the use of alcohol by their parents. The Henry Phipps Institute for Consumptives in Philadelphia reports that mortality in 1908 was 80 per cent higher in patients with alcoholic parents than in those with non-alcoholic parents. Doctor Arrivi found tuberculosis in 10 per cent of drinkers' children and in only 1.8 per cent of children of non-drinkers. Doctor Laitinen found that children of drinking parents are backward from the start, and in proportion to the drinking of the parents. From a large number of cases examined it appears that 12 per cent of the children of abstaining parents die in the first year, while 23 per cent of the children of moderate drinking parents die the first year.

If both parents are alcoholics, one child in five will become insane, one child in three will be epileptic or hysterical, one in seven will be born deformed, only one in six will be normal; whereas, if both parents are total abstainers, nine out of ten will be normal and will tend to have a normal development, rising to one degree higher and nobler than the average of their parents.

SINS OF THE FATHERS.

The "clearing house for mental defects" of the New York Post-Graduate hospital last year issued a statement to the effect that of the 20,000,000 school children in the United States, about 75 per cent, or nearly 15,000,000, are defective. The statement explains that the word defective is applied not only to those mentally below par, but to the large number of children suffering from adenoids, swollen tonsils and similar physical defects.

In attempting to discover the "why" for such an army of subnormal and abnormal children, the Chicago Tribune ventures the opinion that while in part they are a product of the present day economic and industrial conditions, after all it is largely a case of "the sins of the fathers being visited upon the children." That alcohol is responsible for the larger part of these "sins" for which the offspring must suffer is vouched for by physicians and scientists whose ability to pass upon the question cannot be questioned.

THIS MIGHTY INDIGNATION.

The present mighty indignation against the booze business—electric, isn't it? It's flash—everywhere! The forked kind, too, it is! No sheet lightning this! No mere spectacular glow along a far horizon; but the zig-zag, rip-rap bolt that cuts asunder—the kind that has THE PUNCH!

Whence came it? Well, whence that liberal bolt in summer's tempest time! A blinding streak on an instant made? Not so! Rather is it the long day by day, week by week, concentration of power from world-wide dynamo AT LAST breaking all bands asunder and STRIKING!

So comes This Mighty Indignation.

Through years and years,
Through blood and tears,
Through wavering faith—
And faltering fears
THIS mighty indignation!

—Rev. Henry N. Cameron, Washington, Pa.

NO LEGAL SALOON.

You may have seen a legalized saloon, but you have never seen a legal saloon. The liquor business has never submitted to legal restraints anywhere. If you regulate it, it violates the regulations. If you segregate it, it sneaks across the forbidden line. If you close the front door, the back door is open. The regulated saloon is a myth, and the Model License league is a fraud.—Gov. Ben W. Hooper of Tennessee.

KILLS BY AMBUSH.

Dr. Buchner, professor of medicine in Munich university, has said, "Alcohol kills the largest number of victims by ambush, as it were, in that it undermines the power of resistance to sickness, so that the apparently quite temperate drinker succumbs to a lung inflammation or an infectious disease which the sound, normal body easily overcomes."

OBJECT OF BREWERS.

The president of the Master Brewers' association, which met lately in Pittsburgh, said, in his annual address, that "The object of this association is not to get the people to drink more beer, but to get more people to drink beer."

CRIME ON INCREASE.

Coincident with the officially reported fearful spread of alcoholism in France is the terrible increase of crime, and the recommendations of how it can best be combated; also the increasing number of childless families, of which there are 1,800,000 in that country, with 2,967,000 that have but one child each.

COST OF SALOON LICENSE.

For every $120 saloon license money paid, one boy must learn to drink liquor.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. C. MILLER, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JULY 19

BLIND BARTIMEUS.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 10:46-52.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall sing; for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert." Isa. 35: 6.

On our Lord's journey "towards Jerusalem," the place of sacrifice, a place of power was sought by his disciples, Mark 10:37. This lesson is an illustration given to those who accompanied Jesus how they too may reach a place of power, viz., through service and sacrifice.

Matthew 20:30-34 tells us that there were two who made the appeal, but Mark seems to have thought that Bartimeus was worthy of special mention. The healing mentioned by Luke 18:35 suggests that in that case it occurred as Jesus was entering and not leaving Jericho. Mark is telling of one man, Luke of another.
